BALLADE OF WORLDLY WEALTH.

Money taketh town and wall,
 Fort and ramp without a blow.
 Money moves the merchants all
 While the tides shall ebb and flow.
 Money maketh evil show
 Like the good and truth like lies.
 These alone can never bestow
 Youth and health and paradise.
 Money maketh festival,
 While the busy and the idle sow.
 Round the necks of captains tall
 Money wins them chains to throw.
 Marches soldiers to and fro,
 Galleys laden with sweet wine.
 These alone can never bestow
 Youth and health and paradise.
 Money wins the priest his stall.
 Money mutes the busy, I trow,
 Red hats for the cardinal,
 Abbeys for the novice low.
 Money maketh sin as snow,
 Place of penance supplies.
 These alone can never bestow
 Youth and health and paradise.
 —Andrew Lang in Public Opinion.

Early Morning Advice.

The policeman, at 3 o'clock a. m., had just turned the corner when he met a man who very evidently was not a suspicious character, yet who did not seem to be exactly where he ought to be. The policeman, however, had no intention of stopping him, but the man, much to the officer's surprise, stopped the guardian of the peace.
 "Excuse me," he said somewhat thickly, "will you tell me what time it is?"
 "Ten minutes after 3," replied the officer curiously.
 "Thought so, or thereabouts," said the man, with some significance. "Are you a married man?"
 "I am," said the officer as if he were proud of it.
 "I ought to be, I am, too; every man ought to be," said the man. "Is your wife living?"
 "Sure, or was when I left home after supper."
 "Ain't you been home since supper?"
 "No," and the officer smiled.
 "What time did you say it was?" queried the man.
 "After 3 o'clock."
 "Thought so," said the man, shaking his head sorrowfully. "Got a wife at home. Ain't been there since supper; now 3 o'clock in the morning, and you are still out. Sir, I'm ashamed of you," and bracing himself up, with rebuking dignity, the man walked away, leaving the officer almost prostrated. —Detroit Free Press.

What Did He Eat.

There comes a good story from Monte Carlo, from that holy of holies, the salon wherein the trente et quarante tables. Just as the cards were being shuffled for the commencement of play a gentleman deliberately counted out 12 1,000 franc notes and placed them on the black without even taking the precaution of insuring them. It was "playing the limit," and a bystander remarked:
 "What a bold play, sir."
 "Well," said the player, "I dreamed last night that I saw this table exactly as it is now, and on the first coup black won."
 The cards were dealt for the first coup, and black won. A suppressed "Oh!" from the bystanders greeted the announcement, "Black loses," and then from across the table came a woman's voice:
 "What did you have for supper last night? Do tell me!" —New York Herald.

It is of Jewish rabbinical writings are often fanciful. One commentary is called "The Heart of Aaron," the introduction to the Talmud is the "Dones of Joseph," and other treatises are termed "Garden of Nuts" and "Golden Apples."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Superstition of the Turks.
 The superstition of the Turks is nowhere so apparent as in their fear of the "evil eye." Jugs placed around the edge of the roof or an old shoe filled with garlic and blue beads (blue glass balls or rings) are a sure guard against the illusion. Whenever a pretty child is playing upon the street the passerby will say, "Oh, what an ugly child!" for fear of inciting the evil spirit against its beauty. The peasant classes in Turkey are of course the most superstitious because they are the most ignorant. They have no education whatever and can neither read nor write. Stambul is the only great city of which they know. Paris is a term signifying the whole outside world. An American missionary was once asked, "In what part of Paris is America?" Yet it can be said that they are generally honest and always patient. They earn from 6 to 8 cents a day. This will furnish them with clean and stiff, and that is all they expect. They eat meat only on feast days, and then only mutton. The taxgatherer is their only grievance. They look upon him as a necessary evil. They have no idea of being ground down under the oppressor's iron heel. Yet they are happy because they are contented and have no envy. The poorer, the more ignorant, a Turk is the better he seems to be. As he gets money and power and becomes "contaminated" by western civilization he deteriorates. —Across Asia on a Bicycle in Constantinople.

Counterfeit Silver Certificate.
 A counterfeit $1 silver certificate has been detected at the subtreasury. The note is of the series of 1891, and the redemption clerk says it is the first attempt to counterfeit a silver certificate of such a small denomination that has come to his knowledge. The engraving and lettering are almost perfect, but the number of the note in the lower left hand corner is a shade bluer than in a genuine note. The paper has a greasy, slippery surface not found in a genuine note, and it easily creases. —Baltimore Sun.

THE TARIFF BILL.

The sugar schedule of the Tariff bill has been adopted by the Senate by a vote of 35 to 28. Manderson, Perkins and Quay voted with a majority of the Democrats against free sugar, and Hill and some other Democrats voted with the majority of the Republicans for free sugar.

The schedule as now adopted imposes a duty of 40 per cent ad valorem on all sugars, raw and refined, and a differential of one-eighth of a cent per pound on sugars above 16 Dutch Standard and an additional one-tenth of a cent per pound on sugars imported from countries paying an export duty. It continues the Hawaiian treaty, admitting sugars from those islands free of duty.

The impression now prevails in Washington that the Senate bill, or Gorman Tariff bill, as it is now called, will pass the Senate some time this month. As amended, it differs as much from the Wilson bill, passed by the House, as it does from the McKinley act, which is now in force. The thirteen per cent difference between so-called protectionists and free traders is being reduced by every amendment adopted. The Republicans, with few exceptions, voted for free sugar, because it does not affect their constituents, while the Democrats, with one or two exceptions, voted for a tariff on sugar to keep the Louisiana planters in line. Both parties are for protection or free trade when they think they can make votes by it, and when the Gorman bill passes, as it is now conceded it will, the difference between it and the McKinley bill will probably not exceed ten per cent.

THE GRAND JURY REPORT.

The Grand Jury report, which is published elsewhere in the JOURNAL, calls attention to several matters of public interest. It recommends the Board of Commissioners to be governed by law, rather than to follow customs which are not strictly in accordance with law. After a thorough investigation it finds no serious cause for complaint against the Board of County Commissioners. It finds the County Hospital, too, in a very fair condition, but recommends that the contract for maintaining the county wards be let for a longer period than one month, and also that the contract for medical attendance be let as the law provides, instead of from month to month.

The Grand Jury finds that the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors is being violated daily. This is extremely reprehensible and should be stopped, and the attention of the officers is especially directed to the matter.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

A syndicate organized for the purpose of enriching its members by getting the United States to enter into a partnership with them to build the Nicaragua canal has had its lobbyists at work at Washington and its agents influencing the metropolitan press for some time past. The scheme was to have the Government issue $100,000,000 in bonds, give the syndicate $20,000,000 for property which it owned and the labor which it performed on the isthmus, and expend the balance in building the canal. Woodruff Miller and several other statesmen of more or less prominence were promoting the enterprise and were referred to by the patriots.

The scheme failed and the property of the syndicate was placed in the hands of a receiver. Last Wednesday it was sold in New York for $297,625. That was the best the receiver could do in disposing of property for which the Nicaragua Canal and Construction Company wanted the United States Government to pay $20,000,000.

THE GOLD GRABBING GAME.

The Chicago Times is fully converted to the silver cause. It advocates bimetalism with no strings to the word; not the bimetalism of Cleveland, Sherman, Reed & Co., but bimetalism which means that silver shall be coined on the same terms as gold at the mints, and be a legal tender for all debts. In a recent issue in discussing the game of gold grabbing, it says:

"Until silver is restored to its proper place in the money of the country, until the United States Treasurer can pay a silver dollar instead of a gold dollar at his discretion, as is done in France, where intention to export the gold asked for is suspected, the merry game of gold grabbing will go on at the sweet will of the players, and the Government will be obliged to issue more bonds from time to time to purchase back from the Wall Street raiders the yellow coin yet warm from the minting presses in order that the fetid gold reserve may be preserved intact."

The United States Grand Jury at Indianapolis returned an indictment against F. O. Stannard, charging him with conspiracy in the Indianapolis National Bank case. Stannard has disappeared and his bond has been forfeited.

Lewis Gaberding, a youth of twenty, shot his step-father at Oodaville, Minnesota. Gaberding wanted to attend a picnic, but his step-father wanted him to plow. The man chased the boy with a pitchfork and the boy shot his pursuer.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The Board of Commissioners Are Mildly Reprimanded.

Three Indictments Found—A Strong Protest Against the Selling of Liquor to Minors—The Authority of the Commissioners in Certain Cases.

To the Hon. A. E. Cheney, District Judge, in and for Washoe County, Nevada: We beg leave to make the following report:

We find true bills against Wm. St. Clair, assault with intent to kill, for forgery, two charges, and ignored charges against Frank Carleton for burglary, and charges against James Wilson and S. Kennedy for arson also ignored.

Numerous complaints having been made as to the loose manner in which the county affairs have been conducted through the Board of County Commissioners, it was deemed advisable to make a thorough investigation of these charges and if possible to arrive at the true state of affairs.

We examined into the manner in which the Commissioners transact the business of the county, and we find that the same has been done in an unsatisfactory manner. We recommend that hereafter the business of the county be done at the regular meetings.

We recommend that the feeding of the prisoners be done by contract and that bids be asked for according to law; also that the services of the county physician be procured in the same manner. We recommend that the Board of County Commissioners follow strictly the law regarding allowance of any claim against the county, wherein no person shall be permitted to put in a bill unless he has actually furnished the goods or performed the service.

Many complaints having been made regarding the manner in which the County Hospital has been conducted, and a number of witnesses have been called and examined regarding these complaints, and upon visiting the hospital we find the same in a fair condition. We do not approve of the present method of letting contracts from month to month. We recommend that the Commissioners advertise for bids according to law for the maintenance of the county indigents.

We examined into the cost of the county team for road work and we believe that the present expense of nearly ten dollars per day is far in excess of reasonable compensation for the labor performed, and we recommend that able bodied men be employed who are residents and who have families. We find also that a great deal of the cost of the maintenance of our roads is caused by farmers and others running water over them. And we recommend that the proper steps be taken to remedy it.

Several complaints have been made to us, among them being the Faculty of the University, regarding the violation of the law in reference to selling liquor to minors. A number of witnesses, ages ranging from 16 to 19 years, were called, and from their testimony we find that certain saloon keepers are daily violating the law by selling intoxicating liquors to minors; some dealing out the same openly over the bar and others by waiting upon them in a back room by call bell. Consequently many of our boys have been seen upon the streets frequently under the influence of liquor, to the disgrace of themselves, to the disgrace of the community and to the disgrace of our institutions.

This Grand Jury as a body demands the prosecution of any and all persons so violating the law where sufficient evidence has been found to convict, and we call upon the officers to make strenuous efforts to prevent further violation of the same, and we further recommend that the Commissioners frame an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a minor to enter places where intoxicants are dealt out.

A complaint having been brought before us regarding the office of Coroner, we find the following state of affairs, viz: On February, 1893, the Board of County Commissioners enacted an order alternating the burials of the county dead equally between the two undertakers. In defiance of the above order the Coroner has assumed the authority to over-ride the Commissioners, and took it upon himself to furnish materials necessary to the burials and bought such materials from one party only (from whom he receives a compensation) and turns over all the cases that require an inquest to one particular undertaker, making it in no wise an equal division. We, your Grand Jury, earnestly recommend that the Board of County Commissioners enforce the order made by them on the above date in compliance with the present law.

J. F. ATKEN, Foreman.

The Regulator also promotes digestion, and never fails to relieve the most severe cases of dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

I. O. O. F. Election.

Truckee Lodge, No. 14, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers on last Wednesday night, for the ensuing term: P. Jacobs, N. G.; H. A. Fredricks, V. G.; J. V. Peavey, R. S.; R. S. Osburn, Treasurer; D. W. O'Connor, Trustee.

Telegraph Notes.

The German National Bank at Denver has closed its doors.

The floods in Oregon have begun to subside. The Columbia and other rivers are falling.

A report that a Raymond excursion train had been destroyed on the Canadian Pacific and forty lives lost is pronounced absolutely untrue.

The Ohio Central Railroad Company closed its shops at Bucyrus because of a scarcity of coal, and 200 men were thrown out of employment.

Ex-Governor Rodman M. Price of New Jersey died yesterday. He was with Commodore Sloat when the American flag was raised at Monterey, California, in 1846.

Dr. N. J. Aikin, alias Anthan, was sentenced to five years in San Quentin by Judge Morrow of the U. S. Court, San Francisco, for sending illegal advertising and printed matter through the mails.

While relatives of the late William Cornell were searching his mansion at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., they found in an old chest bonds and securities worth a million dollars. He made his money in the stove trade.

A crank named Heffenstein has called at the White House three times announcing that his object was to convert Cleveland to the ways of righteousness. The watchman had him arrested and he is held for examination.

A young girl in a church at Madrid, Spain, screamed, during the service, "Save yourselves; here is a bomb that will explode!" The congregation was panic-stricken. All started for the doors. Many were trampled on and left unconscious on the floor. Three persons are considered fatally injured. After the church had been emptied the police found no bomb. The girl then confessed that the alarm was a hoax.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Spenger, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg and doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

The Wall Street combination, which is backed by every transportation company in Oregon, succeeded in carrying the election in that State. This insures the re-election of Senator Dolph, who is one of the most pronounced goldbugs in the Senate. As might be expected, the Wall Street gang in Nevada crow over the result, as they would over the success of Sherman, Reed or any other member of the combination. Had the Populists been successful in Oregon, a free coinage Senator would have been elected to succeed Dolph, but the Republicans and Cleveland Democrats combined, and with the aid of corporation money prevented such a desirable result.

S. O. Wells announces under the head of "New To-day" a full line of groceries, merchandise and harvesting tools, machinery and extras. He is sole agent for the celebrated Deering mowers, reapers and self-binders. He keeps a full line of the Buckeye extras constantly on hand. Being in his own building, he has advantages that he gives his patrons the benefit of. His prices are commensurate with the times. During the season he will carry a full line of the choicest fruits, and guarantees satisfaction in every particular.

M. Hammerly, a well-known business man of Hildreth, Va., sends this testimony: "Several years ago, I hurt my leg, the injury leaving a sore which led to erysipelas. My suffering was extreme, my leg from the knee to the ankle, being a solid sore, which began to extend to other parts of the body. After trying various remedies, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished the first bottle, I experienced great relief; the second bottle effected a complete cure."

REVIVED JUST IN TIME.

An Alabama Doctor's Narrow Escape From Being Buried Alive.

From Thomasville, a thriving little town on the Mobile and Birmingham road, 102 miles north of this place, comes a story that is heard but seldom, and then too much credence cannot be placed therein, for nine times out of ten there is a certain provocation or a knock of disconcerting and stretching the facts that knock the truth out of the tale. But here is a true story: Sunday morning there died, to all appearances, at Thomasville, a well known physician of that place—Dr. John W. Brand. He had lately removed from Randolph county and was about 65 years of age. He suffered several weeks from various complications, and finally the watchers at his bedside, one of whom was his son, saw him draw, apparently, his last breath and sink into the unconsciousness of death. The body was taken charge of by his friends, washed and dressed in the customary shroud and laid out in the parlor. An hour or two later a few friends seated in the room with the corpse noticed a slight twitching of the fingers of the deceased. They were somewhat startled, but did not lose their self possession and flee from the room, as is ordinary under such circumstances. Instead they repaired to the side of the doctor and watched him closely. Then a movement of almost the entire body was noticed—a slight convulsion, in fact. These two pieces of change that had been placed over the eyes of the dead man fell off, and he made an effort to open his eyes. This satisfied those gathered around him that life was still within the remains, and the body was tenderly carried back to the bed from which he had been removed a short while before a supposed corpse. Dr. Brand received every care, and he slowly revived. His first words when apprised of his condition were: "How long was I dead?"

All preparations for the removal of the body to his home in Randolph county had been made by the son of Dr. Brand, and it was arranged to ship the remains by the Mobile and Birmingham train that passed Thomasville Sunday night. Dr. Brand's daughter was at the Selma depot to receive the body of her father, but instead was rejoiced to receive the welcome news that her parent was still alive.—Mobile Register.

CONJUGAL LIFE.

Interesting Statistics Which Have Just Been Given Out by the Government.

The first data on conjugal life in the United States ever gathered by the government are given in a census bulletin. It shows that of a total population of 62,662,260 in 1890 almost three-fifths were single, a little more than one-fifth married, and quite one-twentieth were widowed. The divorced constituted a small fraction of 1 per cent. The actual numbers of the classes are as follows: Single, 37,129,564; widowed, 2,970,052; unknown, 70,314; married, 22,331,424; divorced, 120,996.

The males constituted over 51 per cent of the total population. Of 32,067,880 males in the country, 19,945,570 were single, 11,805,228 married, 815,487 widowed, 49,101 divorced. Of the females, 17,163,988 were single, 11,128,190 married, 2,154,615 widowed, 71,805 divorced.

The proportion of widows, says the report, was nearly three times as great as of widowers, indicating that a greater portion of widowers remarry than widows, while figures show that divorced men have remarried to a greater extent than divorced women.

Of the married males, there were 23 out of 11,290,008 under 15 years of age, 589,748 out of 3,104,888 between 20 and 24 years, 1,728,980 out of 4,425,064 between 25 and 34 years, 869,926 out of 1,293,719 35 years and over. Of married females, there were 1,411 out of 10,952,102 under 15 years, 319,959 out of 3,885,088 from 15 to 19 years, 1,444,712 out of 3,091,783 from 20 to 24 years, 1,805,064 out of 2,520,466 from 25 to 29 years, 1,717,304 out of 2,152,966 from 30 to 34 years, 2,568,266 out of 3,346,031 from 35 to 44 years, 1,796,979 out of 2,430,878 from 45 to 54 years, 905,627 out of 1,499,397 from 55 to 64 years, 413,399 out of 1,183,569 65 years and over.

Official Duties Startled.

The chappies in the state department are in despair. They cannot turn up their trousers any more—that is, they cannot wear them turned up and continue to work in the department. Secretary Gresham happened to see one of the chappies strolling leisurely through the corridor one day last week with his trousers turned up in true London style. The next day this particular young man found a note on his desk directing him to devote himself to an especially unbecoming task, and one at which he would hardly care to have his society familiarly see him engaged. At the same time a horrid rumor was spread abroad with truly feminine emphasis and embellishments to the fact that Keneas Landis, the private secretary of Mr. Gresham, and a man who never takes any note of climatic conditions in London, had given the secretary his trousers turned up should be treated to a week in Coventry.—Washington Letter in Boston Advertiser.

Our Poor Show at Antwerp.

The Antwerp exhibition was formally opened, says a writer, like all other great shows, in unredeemed. The show takes in the whole world, but its great feature—in fact, its secret reason d'être—is the display which is the result of Belgium's colonial venture in the Congo State. The country has achieved one of the greatest successes in history in colony-making, and it proudly produces proof of it. Even England, with all her African conquests, peaceful and otherwise, is put to shame by comparison. The United States makes a showing thus far so poor as to be ridiculous. Only bankrupt Italy, of all countries of rank, makes such a beggarly display.

HOW GREEK LADIES DRESSED.

It is surprising to learn that they laced and wore Flounced Skirts.

Women in Homer embroidered garments, and many of these are brought from Sidon. They wear veils, but on the whole their dress, long smock and girle, was apparently much like that of later Greece. This is odd, for on a gold ring from Mycene, very old, we see women with crumpled busts, tight waists and petticoats heavily befringed. The same costume appears on a Mycenean ring picked up by Furtwangler in a curiosity shop. Two ladies are caressing out of champagne glasses. They are very tightly laced. A lady on a Mycenean gem from Vaphio is laced to extinction and has seven flounces. The British museum owns a lentoid gem, where Leda wears only a crenoline, with no petticoat over it. Diphylon vases display both men and women with tight waists. Men, in Mycenean art, wear little but very short drawers and shields. In Homer the chiefs, summoned on a night alarm, come out in dressing gowns, some of them in skins.

The historical dress for ladies was a large piece of cloth a foot longer than the wearer was tall and as wide as her arms could stretch. When put on by a fair Briton, it usually falls off again. A belt partly kept it up, and safety pins were used in very early times. By taking a bath towel—a good, big one—and crying what she can make of it as her full costume, a modern nymph may partly understand the toilet of her ancient sisters. When once she has got it on, she stands with extended arms, and another lady fastens a girdle round her waist; then she pulls up the superfluous length through the girdle and lets it hang over, and there she is. But how long she will remain thus is an extremely delicate question. Straps, like braces, were sometimes worn and crossed over the breast, being fastened to the girdle. Ladies had no bonnets—they carried their heads in a fold of their cloaks or wore flat hats. They were all very beautiful and charming, as we see in the Tanagra terra cotta. It must have been delightful to live in Tanagra. It appears, on the whole, that we cannot hope to revive Greek dress. The dress was designed for a warm climate and for a beautiful, shapely grace. It had its advantages in the matter of health, as there was no tight lacing after the Mycenean age. The style was not extravagant or costly, but it is impossible. The tedious custom of binding it back into a chiton and sandals on a cold and rainy day would be an unlovely object. He would be wrapped in a blanket, thrust into a four wheeler and sent to a hospital. Not for all the glory that was Greece's would rational men barter a pair of stockings and a pair of trousers.—New York World.
